THE SOCIAL REALM.

Echoes of a Fashionably Attended and Delightful Concert.

NOTABLE WEDDING IN HIGH LIFE.

Exquisitely Appointed Luncheon-Club Reception-An Elegant Dining-Entertainment to Come-Society Personals.

HOSOEVER attended the Sherwood concert must admit it started the week superbly, for never was there a more brilliant or appreciative audience gathered in Salt Lake. It cannot again be said that our people do not turn out to a concert, for such a gathering demonstrates the fact that when anything really good is brought, and is properly managed, there is no lack of patrons. Professor Krouse must feel proud, and deservedly so, of the successful issue of his undertaking. The ladies did honor to the occasion by appearing in full dress, and the audience presented such a beautiful appearance that it would have inspired any artist. The programme was a fine one and grandly rendered, selections being made from the old masters as well as those who gained fame in later days. Mr. George Pyper, Professor Krouse and Mr. White added greatly to Mr. Sherwood's programme, as they are great home favorites.

The University club gave Mr. and Mrs. William H. Sherwood a very handsome reception in their elegantly furnished rooms in the McCornick building on Monday afternoon. Their cordial invitation was responded to by quite a number of our best society people, artists and musicians, and a right royal welcome was given them. Those who were present will long remember the pleasant occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Sherwood, who were so agreeably impressed, contemplate a return to the city some time during the winter. The committee of reception was composed of the following gentlemen: Messrs. Walter Murphy, Haviland and Westcott, and right superbly they did the honors.

Those of experience who heard Mr. Russell's talk upon house decoration and entertaining will certainly not agree with him upon the subject of lighting, for light and plenty of it, is necessary for the success of entertainments, especially dancing parties. Mr. Russell to the contrary notwithstanding. Darkness and dimness are conducive to drowsiness, and one does not invite a number of friends to a dance and then treat them to a somnolent dose. No, brightness, brilliancy, conversation and lively strains are what one needs to promote merriment. True, the lights must not be upon a line with the eyes, for nothing is more disagreeable. All have at times experienced this in banquets, dinners and luncheons, where at late hours the flame from the candelabra falls directly in the eye.

Mrs. W. P. Lynn gave a 3 o'clock tea on Wednesday at her pretty home in honor of her friends, Mrs. W. E. Halm, who soon leaves to make her home in Denver. The rooms were festive with the bright and varied hues of the autumn leaves, backed high over mantels and clustered in vases. The table linen was pure white, daintily embroidered, and only white china was used, the color being left leaves strung and hanging in graceful festoons from the chandelier, with a center piece also of them. Covers were laid for twelve. The souvenirs were bread and butter plates wherein were painted fall leaves and the name of each guest done in gold. That designed for the guest of honor was of larger size and bore the names of the twelve seated at table. It was a clever thought, and an acceptable remembrance of the pleasant occasion. The other guests present were Messdames Ferdinand Fabian, M. C. Fox, J. B. Grant, George Ryan, Charles Hood, H. L. Soanell, Standart, Adolph Volzner and A. F. Vincent.

An elaborate menu was served, being: Scalloped oysters. Warm apple sprays. Celery. Lemon. Salmon chops. Biscuits and butter. Creamed potatoes. Jerfish. Polished salad. Olives. Snowflake wafers. Ice cream served in peach shells. Autumn leaf and maple sauce. Candles made in form of H. Fruit.

A dinner, elegant in all its appointments, was given on Tuesday last by Mrs. Arthur Brown in honor of Senator and Mrs. Pugh of Alabama. The guests invited to meet them were the members of the supreme court and their wives. Covers were laid for twenty, and an elaborate and tempting menu was served.

suburban residence on the banks of the Jordan. The rooms were elaborately and beautifully decorated with palms, ferns and cut flowers of great variety. Thronged of relatives of both bride and groom, with a few near friends, filled the rooms during the entire evening. The "Sunshine society," of which the bride was a member, was also present.

The bride was given in a rich old ivory bangaline silk, cut princess, on trains. It was embellished with an artistic arrangement of French lace, which almost completely covered the pretty bodice. Her dressers were bride's roses. Her twin sister, Miss Hattie, was her only attendant, and was a charming toilet of magnolia tinted crepe cut tulle, with a fall of dainty white encircling it. A cluster of pink roses were her flowers.

Mrs. Cannon was assisted in receiving the guests by Mr. Abraham H. Cannon and Miss Edna Cannon. The latter wore a pretty costume of changeable silk, showing pink and blue tints. Most delightful music interspersed the gayeties of the evening. Besides numerous selections, Miss Cannon sang a lovely song, "Mr. Carpenter had the music in charge."

A pretty episode was a serenade by the students of the college where Mr. Chamberlain presided. It was a most gratifying tribute of devotion. The presents were numerous and superb. A massive silver ice pitcher and goblets was from the college students.

In the dining room was spread a sumptuous banquet, the table bright with cut glass, silver and flowers, from the center of which rose a huge bride's cake finished with a top with a cluster of sweetest bride's roses.

The marriage of Miss Mary Mitchell of New Philadelphia, O., to Mr. Arthur Critchlow will take place in the late fall. Miss Mitchell will be remembered as one of the loveliest girls who ever lived here. She is the daughter of Major C. E. Mitchell.

The largest and one of the most elegant events of the week was a high five given on Thursday afternoon by Mrs. William Bird in honor of her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Sherwood Bird. The spacious and comfortable home was brightened with the color in all its variety of color, the mantle was gracefully festooned with smilax, and potted plants were delightfully arranged many groups, giving the tropical appearance which suggests warmth, and is so necessary to sociability.

Sixty invitations were issued and but few regrets received. Four prizes were offered, the first two being exquisitely handsome gauze fans, of pink and blue. The second was pin trays. Messdames C. P. Brooks, A. Gibson, T. Odell, Joshua Grant Young, F. D. Clawson, Joe Jennings, H. E. Harrison, J. E. Harrison, J. M. Benedict, Mulloy, Ed. Chinnick, Fane, James James, Love, Realer, Archer, Judson, Burrows, Remington, Johnson, Richards, Palmer, Penrose, Owen, J. H. Van Horn, LeCompte, Griggs, McCallum, Messdames Henry Fox, T. W. Wynn and Mary Macgregor of Napa, Cal. The Messdames Maud Fowler and Mary Macgregor also of Napa, Cal. Mrs. H. M. Mallett, Jr. of Oakland, Cal. Mrs. H. S. Lusk of American Fork, Messdames Stanton, Louis Simon, Wilson, Sprague, Tappin, Brown, McKinnis, S. D. Beebe, C. M. Bell, Reading, F. Simmons, Duke, Dax, W. V. Venable, Richard Young, Sykes and Watson. The Messdames Georgia McKinnis, E. B. Eberhard, Burrows, Headsett, Rose Hartwell, the Messdames Hauser, Datt and the Messdames Shelly.

Mrs. L. C. Karkick gave a very charming reception on Wednesday afternoon to thirty-five of her friends. The house was beautifully decorated with palms and cut flowers, and an elaborate and delicious menu was served in a most faultless manner by colored waiters. The ladies on leaving the dressing-room were presented with a cluster of dahlias of one shade for color. These were tied with ribbons of the same hue. Nice shades were used, and those, when the refreshments were served enabled them to find their seats at the proper place without any direction, as the nine tables were decorated with the same color. The fruit further embellished the tables which were laid in the dining-room and library. A delicious burgundy punch was served during the afternoon. The menu was elaborate and tempting, consisting of:

Chicken croquet. Thin bread and butter. Lobster salad. Snowflake wafers.

Ice, fruit forms. Jelly. Caramel and chocolate cakes.

Coffee. Champagne frappe with fruits.

Peaches. Pineapple. Pears.

The following ladies were present: Messdames, Wendell Benson, Hempstead, E. McGinnis, Fred Dickert, Edgar Darling of Detroit, Elmer Darling, Frank Knox, E. F. C. Bailey, J. C. Standart, Wilkes, Styer, Griffin, Arthur Brown, Thomas Jennings, W. W. Ritter, James Moyle Dunbar, Isaac Jennings, James Cairns, Willard Young, Darling, Brister, Bach, Sprague, Hoyt Sherman, J. P. Kimball, Clayton and Young, the Messdames Remsted, Manning, Dwyer and Elio Elberbeck.

Dr. H. D. and Mrs. Niles entertained a number of their friends on Wednesday evening of last week at their home, on Brigham street. High five was played and thoroughly enjoyed. Four artistic Japanese prizes were offered, the counters used being Japanese coin strung upon different colored ribbons by which they were easily attached to the pin intended to hold them. It was an original thought and a very successful one. The cash prize was a handsome bronze candlestick, won by Mrs. McGinnis. The second, a Japanese stamp box, Miss Hamilton carried off. The gentlemen's first prize, a leather cigar holder, was taken by Mr. Brister, and Mr. McGinnis secured the second, a Japanese bronze cigar-holder. At the conclusion of the game delicious refreshments were served. The guests, besides those named, who responded to the invitation were: Mr. Donnellan, Mr. and Mrs. Jenny, Mr. and Mrs. Chapman, Mr. and Mrs. Fox, Miss Fox, Miss Woodward, Miss Mary Woodward, Mr. and Mrs. Bacha, Mr. Fields, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Wandland, Dr. Wilcher, Misses Zane, Mr. and Mrs. Dullin, Mr. Robert Glendon, Miss W. Ashburn, Dr. and Mrs. Standart, Dr. and Mrs. Bascom, Misses Sawyer, Mrs. Graham Putnam, Mr. and Mrs. Coates, Miss Donnellan, Mr. John Zane, Mr. and Mrs. Darling, Mr. and Mrs. Read, Mrs. Carter, Mr. and Mrs. Bailey, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel, Miss Grace Wallace, Miss Mary Wallace, Mr. H. S. Lyman, Mr. and Mrs. Woodruff, Mr. Kenneth Kerr.

Mrs. H. C. Brink's high five on Friday evening was a most enjoyable affair. Her pretty home was decorated with cut flowers of marigold, marguerites, astors and dahlia, which made a pleasing variety, and added a charm which flowers always give. The three prizes were all beautiful selections. The first, a silver pin tray, was carried off by Mrs. Bacha. A handsome silver and gold marquette spoon, Mrs. E. Miller won and the consolation prize was laid to Mrs. Fred Hale. When the game was closed tempting refreshments were served. The list of guests not yet named follows: Messdames Sherman, Stephens, Grizz, Forbes, M. C. Fox, Markland, Seaton, Bishop, Egbert, Roberts, Darr, Russell, Henderson, Woodruff, Lyon and Armstrong. The Messdames Fox, Beattie, Conklin, Earls and Wright.

Mrs. M. Fox gave a luncheon at the Alta club on Wednesday to a number of friends that was extremely elegant in all its appointments. Those who were fortunate enough to receive invitations were Messdames C. E. Wandland, H. D. Niles, Styer and Woodruff, the Messdames Zane of Philadelphia, Hamilton of Seattle, Anderson, Oak, McCornick, Mackintosh, Royal, Grace Wallace, Miss Wallace of Omaha, Miss Harkness, Miss O. Harkness, Miss Fox and Miss Margaret Zane.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Styer entertained Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Sherwood very delightfully on Tuesday evening. Mr. Styer is an old pupil of Mr. Sherwood's and the meeting after their separation was very gratifying to both.

Those present besides the guests of honor: Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Krouse, Mrs. Lewis, Mrs. Young and the Messdames Lewis and Styer and Mr. Willard White.

The "National Pageant."

When the curtain rises for the third time during the presentation of the "National Pageant," it will be upon a love scene, "The Courtship of Miles Standish," Pristia and John Alden. The first scene of this pretty bit of political history depicts Pristia seated at her spinning wheel, her open psalm book on her knee, singing from it that grand old puritan anthem, the One Hundredth psalm. Voice and wheel both cease when John Alden enters and the beating of her heart tells her that John has come. After the entrance of John with his flowers the Puritan maiden copy listens while he speaks the cause of his friend. Surprised is followed by mirth at the sight of his embarrassment. When she quietly asks "Why don't you speak for myself, John?" one cannot but admire her maidenly modesty.

Very naturally will follow the wedding scene, with the startling appearance of Miles Standish at its conclusion. The tableau closing by the entrance of the wedding party, the happy warrior and his blessing upon the bridal pair.

The characters are: (a.) The Courtship of Miles Standish. Pristia, the Puritan maiden. Miss Lou Manning John Alden. Mr. George Westcott Miles Standish. Mr. Graham F. Putnam Magistrate. Mrs. Isaac Jennings

MME. LAMB'S RECEPTION.

A Brilliant Affair.

On Tuesday afternoon and evening Mme. Lamb's elegant parlors were thrown open to thousands of Salt Lake's most charming ladies for the purpose of entertaining them with music and the most elegant display of French millinery ever shown in America. The decorations and display were arranged in the most artistic manner for which the madame is noted, and for which she has no rivals on the continent. The sweet notes of many cantatas mingled with the strains of music from the dainty touch of an accomplished pianist among the bowers of natural palms and autumn-tinted foliage consisting of woodbines and the wild clematis, all lent enchantment to the view and induced the ladies to linger and admire the most beautiful conceptions of the milliner's art. There were on display chapeaux, capotes, etc., from all the noted French artists, besides many of the madame's own designs, which were admired as much if not more than the imported. Irresistible cut feathers are shown and are marvels of coloring, shading from green to blue, yellow to deep red, orange to brown, and so on. Tinsel embroidery, heavy lace, galleons, passementerie, and all the novelties of the season were employed to make the feminine head coverings things of beauty and to draw the lines sharply between the home-made and the milliner's article.

The display of millinery trimmed and untrimmed could not be rivaled in America. The crowds were immense, everybody of who could possibly be present was there, among them a lady who had traveled extensively and had just returned from a prolonged visit to London and Paris, declared that she never seen anything in point of elegance or style in London or Paris to equal the reception and display. Mme. Lamb received in her usual elegant and graceful manner so well known to all her friends and numerous patrons. Mme. Lamb, the acknowledged leader, has completely revolutionized the style of millinery in this city and throughout the western country. While being the acknowledged leader in millinery circles, Mme. Lamb is always willing for her competitors to rival her establishment, and so unselfish is she that her information is given as freely to them as to her retail customers. Mme. Lamb's sole aim seems to be the elevation of the millinery art and her efforts are crowned with the success she deserves.

ANTE-ROOM ECHOES.

A Very Good Week's Work in All the Orders.

Masonic Work Commenced--Old Fellows Active--Knights of Pythias Doings--The L. O. O. F. and Other Societies.

Business amongst the secret societies has been more active during the past week than for many moons. The season has fairly opened up, and signs of general activity are visible on all sides. The Masons did good work and have plenty more in sight. The Odd Fellows have commenced initiations again. The Knights of Pythias did not do much degree work, but they held some very important business meetings. The Ancient Order of United Workmen had a fairly good week, and the smaller orders were more than up to the usual standard.

Mount Moriah lodge met on Monday evening and worked in the entered apprentice degree. The lodge was well attended and a profitable time was spent. On Tuesday evening Argenta lodge met. Charles Emise was admitted as an entered apprentice and other business transacted. The council of royal and select masters met on Tuesday evening in regular session. The business was of a routine character only. The council will meet for work on the last Tuesday in October. Last Thursday the Masonic board of relief received an application for charity, the claims of which will be investigated and action taken on it today.

L. O. O. F. The was a very fair amount of work done during the week and more initiations than for a long time. Jordan lodge met on Monday night and conferred the initiatory degree on one candidate. The attendance was very good and the work was done in excellent style. On Tuesday Unity lodge met and conferred the degree of Master on one candidate. The work was done in excellent style. On Wednesday Unity lodge met and conferred the degree of Master on one candidate. The work was done in excellent style. On Thursday Unity lodge met and conferred the degree of Master on one candidate. The work was done in excellent style.

Utah lodge No. 1 and Salt Lake lodge both had good meetings, and at fidelity on Friday night two candidates were initiated into the mysteries of the first degree. The patriarchs have returned from attending the meeting of the supreme lodge at Portland, O. and are bringing accounts of their trip and mission. Quite a number of patriarchs on their way back to the east stopped off at Salt Lake for a few days. On Friday about thirty of them visited the city and other places of interest in and around the city. They are all loud in their praises and emphatic in their admiration of Salt Lake city, and especially of the Salt Lake Odd Fellows. It is expected that the day is not very far distant when the Sovereign Grand Lodge will hold its convocation in this city. It was decided next year to hold the convocation at Chicago. An important step was taken at the convocation at Portland last year, which was the fixing of the permanent home and headquarters of Odd fellowship in this country at Baltimore, Md. This is a very fitting decision as Baltimore is the original stamping ground of Odd Fellowship in the United States. It was there that the pilgrims from England established the first lodge, and from there it grew and spread to its present vast proportions.

Knights of Pythias. All the lodges here held their ordinary meetings. There was no degree work, but being the last meeting in the month a lot of general routine business was transacted.

Calantha had a very good meeting on Monday night, which was largely attended. On Tuesday evening the lodge met and transacted the usual routine business. It was expected that Professor John P. Meakin would give an address on the late convocation at Kansas City, but he was unable to attend. The Rocky Mountain lodge on Thursday evening had a large meeting. Brother Farnsworth gave a most interesting account of the proceedings of the grand convocation at Kansas City. He said it was the greatest assembly of Pythians ever held, and must be seen to be thoroughly appreciated and comprehended.

The Uniform Rank will meet for drill next Friday evening, and all the lodges at that time will be expected to attend.

Foresters. The Court Pride of Utah met on Wednesday evening. The attendance was fair and general business was transacted. Brother W. H. Wood gave an interesting account of the workings of courts he had visited whilst in St. Louis. Gratifying news of the growth of the order in Denver and eastern cities was received. It is proposed to establish a number of new courts in the principal cities of this territory, and steps to that end will be commenced in the near future. At the present time there is but one court in Utah and the members are assured that there is plenty of room for at least a dozen more.

Temple of Honor. This order met on Thursday evening and the attendance was large. The business was mostly of a routine character. The new pamphlet setting forth the principles, history and aims of the order is now out.

and is a very neat little compendium. The following extract from it explicitly states how the order was founded and its object and aims:

"The Temple of Honor and Temperance was instituted in the city of New York and London, and it is the purpose of the order to be the same way. One believed that the price of cattle would be controlled from Chicago, through New York and London, and if it suited the purposes of Armour & Co. and other heavy packers to increase the prices so that they could get more money from cattle in which they had an interest, the cattlemen generally would get the benefit."

There is a general conviction among the owners of range cattle, however, that their steers will be worth at least 20 per cent. more during the next thirty days. "News."

NO GORDON SMILES ON THE EXCHANGE. The masculine cast appears this summer to be a proper subject for discussion, as well as a popular adjunct to the toilet of gentlemen. The time has gone by when decorum demands that the waistcoat shall be worn with the thermometer marking the nineties. If one may judge from the samples displayed in the windows of the fur-nishers' shops, the waist which is worn at the seaside and in the tennis courts is unlimited as to color. But waisties of a modest hue are creeping into use in the streets of Boston, especially since Spencer Reed and Mr. Lodge popularized them upon the floor of Congress.

Star of Bethlehem. Mizpah lodge No. 1 held its quarterly meeting on Monday. The session was fully occupied in a business way. Speeches were, however, made by Counsellor Burgen, J. E. Darnner and others. The question of social entertainments was left in abeyance and will be further discussed at the next meeting.

Order Sons of St. George. The Sons of St. George will give their first social for the season on Wednesday, Oct. 5, at 8 o'clock, when all air knights are cordially invited to be present and bring their families and friends, irrespective of race or creed, and enjoy the feast of reason and flow of soul prepared for them.

The order does not concern itself with the religious or political opinions of its members, and does not allow English or American politics to be introduced in its meetings. It enjoins all its members to become good citizens of the land of their adoption, and is in no way antagonistic to this country or its people, seeking only the unification of Englishmen for good and wholesome purposes, conducive alike to the welfare of its members, the general good of society and the prosperity of the land in which its people have found a better home than the land of their birth can afford them. The interests of its members being now wrapped up in the prosperity of this country, it warns its members that no Englishman will be a traitor to the land of his adoption, but will always obey the laws of the country in which he resides. These social gatherings every month shall be kept up, when all may bring along their wives, daughters, sisters, cousins and aunts, so that they may become better acquainted with each other and make friendships which shall be lasting because they are cemented by the memories of dear old native land.
